

Good day, everyone!

We at BASC hope that as your regular season winds down that your player has had a positive experience this fall -- a season full of challenges, successes, and opportunities. If you attended our first open training session for Genesis Football in September, we thank you! If you were not able to attend that session, don't worry; there will be future opportunities to get plugged in.

We had set the goal of having two open training sessions for the fall of 2017 to allow parents and players to "test drive" the program and get a glimpse of what it's about. Unfortunately, November is a tough month to try and pull off a weekend open session. If you're a seasoned soccer family you know that this is Tournament Month in Oklahoma. There is a tournament just about every weekend. In addition to tournaments, regular season teams are trying to get those last couple of games in before the holidays, which are right around the corner as well. As a result, we've decided to forego the second session for the fall season. We will resume open sessions in the spring just as soon as the training facilities at Indian Springs open for business.

In the meantime, we will now begin forming initial teams where it makes sense. For example, if there are enough players in a particular age group to form a "startup" team now, we will do that. These teams will begin meeting before the spring season and begin to train at a facility other than Indian Springs. The goal will be for these teams to prepare for spring friendlies with other clubs and teams!

What does this mean for you? If you already know that Genesis is something you want to do, please go ahead and register so we can track numbers and begin forming teams. There will be no charge for your registration at this time. When the training facility at Indian Springs opens in the spring of 2018, there will be a second registration and at that time the $25 registration fee will apply to everybody who opts to stay in the program for the Spring 2018 season. Since there is absolutely no financial commitment tied to registering now and getting involved during the off-season, we'd also encourage you to register now even if you're not sure that Genesis is right for your family.

If you are a parent of a player born in 2008 this spring is the last season to be considered a "junior;" in the fall they'll age out of Genesis and have different options. Don't let that deter you from registering and getting involved now. We may be able to combine some 2009s and 2008s so nobody gets left out.

Finally, thank you for considering us. Everybody involved with Genesis Football is a volunteer who stands to gain nothing from this program except the reward of investing their time into something that they believe has value and helps improve the game for as many kids as possible.
